“Person Centered to Person Driven – Successful Innovative Accommodations and Getting Students to Work”

This is an opportunity for educators that teach students with significant disabilities such as individuals with:

- ◆ Communication barriers (Nonverbal /Nonlinguistic)
- ◆ Behaviors (Self Injurious Behavior and/or aggression toward others)
- ◆ Low work motivation
- ◆ Finding activities that build skill and independence that are age appropriate

Jennifer White

Jennifer’s presentation focuses on tools & accommodation strategies that address the above issues of transition age students. Jennifer will review low/high tech accommodation tools that are working for people previously deemed unemployable.
